Lodge Feature: Wahissa

Brothers,

Wahissa lodge has ended the 2016 year with our annual banquet and is kicking off the new year with our "Learn, Train, Be Merry" training event. We worked together to train all of our chairmen and officers with a festive theme. With Conclave being only five months away we are going to begin preparing Camp Raven Knob this spring. Our lodge will be hosting multiple work weekends throughout January to complete that effort. Under the leadership of the 2017 Conclave Chairman, Dylan Stoltzfus many committees dedicated to hosting the best Conclave to date have been putting the finishing touches on their programs. Everyone in Wahissa lodge is looking forward to hosting our brothers from all over North Carolina in April.

Simon Harris: VC of Training

What's your favorite movie? My favorite movie of all time would be Talladega Nights.

What do people know you for? I like to think that people know me for being both dependable and supportive. I am also well known for producing zesty memes.

What do you enjoy about your position? I get to interact with many people that I wouldn't have known without Scouting.

Why do you #ChooseOA? In one word, Brotherhood. The OA provides me with ample opportunities to challenge myself and allows me to take on responsibilities that many youth are unable to due to the youth leadership oriented nature the program possesses.

If you could only eat one thing for the rest of your life, what would it be? Pasta carbonara.

Do you have any jokes? Nope.

What are your life plans? I would like to be a business owner. Specifically, I would like to inherit and run my family's business.

Carolina Indian Seminar

Are you new to American Indian Affairs or interested in learning more about it? Are you someone who has spent years working with the AIA program? Either way, Carolina Indian Seminar (CIS) is the event for you!

CIS will be held from January 20-22 at Mitchell Community College. It is organized by Eswau

Huppeday in SR-5. To learn more about attending this American Indian Affairs event, contact your lodge AIA representative.
